

The FCC should do nothing that would weaken the existing telemarketing law in Indiana. I can now eat dinner uninterrupted on a daily basis. I do not wish to be contacted for solicitation by any company, regardless if I have done business with them in the past. I am capable of initiating any contact to engage in business on my own.